FORWARD

The Tyler County, Texas records contained in this volume were chosen because of their special importance to the history of this county. The purpose is to help preserve the county's history and to make available as many of the records as possible to those who share this interest.

In searching these records it is suggested that the reader consider every conceivable spelling of the name being sought. The handwriting and the spelling of the early recorders is often difficult to read and interpret.

Records included in this volume are:

i Section 1. 1867 - 1869 Voter Registration.

A statewide effort was made to register voters considered to be qualified by the U.S. Congress. Restrictions on who could register changed from time to time due to the interpretation given to the law by the Military Commander. Many residents of Tyler County were not qualified, while others failed to register for their own personal reasons. To read more about this period of Texas history, THE ARMY IN TEXAS DURING RECONSTRUCTION 1865 - 1870, by William L. Richter is recommended.

The only abbreviations used which call for explanation are those found in the Status Column. "D" means deceased; "R" means the person moved from the county; and "U" means the person was considered unqualified.

i Section 2. 1870 Census of Adult Males.

The names of all male residents of Tyler County of voting age were extracted from the 1870 Census. This record should give some indication of those who failed to qualify to vote or simply chose not to register.

i Section 3. 1877 Tax Roll.

During the ten year period following the Civil War, many families moved from Tyler County. The tax roll for 1877 provides, in part, a list of those families who chose to remain.

i Section 4. 1890 Tax Roll.

Since there is no 1890 census of Tyler County, the tax roll is the best tool available for locating a family. If an individual paid taxes on real property, an examination of the deed records may provide information on that individual's family.
